Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Saturday 23 Oct 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fairly cloudy today with rain developing in the northwest.

Today:
Early cloud over western Scotland and Northern Ireland thickening to give spells of rain, heavy at times over hills. Elsewhere, mostly dry but fairly cloudy with just occasional brighter spells. Turning windier, mainly in the north and west.

Tonight:
Evening rain over western Scotland and Northern Ireland moving slowly eastwards into the rest of Scotland, western England and parts of Wales. Clear spells and showers following into the west.

Sunday:
Fairly windy with cloud and rain over Scotland, western England and Wales moving slowly eastwards reaching the southeast during the evening. Sunny spells and heavy showers follow from the west.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunshine and showers on Monday, but some eastern parts remaining dry. Rain arriving into the north on Tuesday, moving south on Wednesday. Becoming mild with strong winds at times.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.